These Regulation Best Interest (Reg BI) disclosures are designed to give you a better understanding of how TD Ameritrade, Inc. (referred to in this document as “TD Ameritrade”, “we” “us” or “our”) recommends and offers variable annuities to retail clients like you. This includes:

- The types of variable annuity products and services we might recommend to you.
- The fees or expenses that might be associated with those recommendations.
- Material facts as to our client relationships and conflicts we may have.

Overview of Annuities

In general, there are two types of annuities.

Variable Annuities:

- You can choose from a variety of underlying investment options in which to put your money that act similarly to mutual funds.
- These investment options are subject to market risk. They may increase or decrease in value over time.
- Variable annuities are both insurance products and securities.
- As securities, variable annuities are subject to state and federal securities laws and regulations. These regulations include the SEC’s Regulation Best Interest (Reg BI).
- Additional information about a specific variable annuity is available in its prospectus.

Fixed Annuities:

- These are only insurance products.
- They are not securities and not subject to Reg BI, so they are not covered by this disclosure.

Entity, Relationship and Scope

The variable annuities we offer are made available through The Insurance Agency of TD Ameritrade, LLC (the Agency), an affiliate of TD Ameritrade. The Agency operates as a specialty team and offers annuities from select, highly-rated insurance companies. The variable annuities we offer generally provide favorable features and benefits at relatively low costs. TD Ameritrade retail clients and prospects are referred to the Agency through TD Ameritrade Financial Consultants (FCs) in TD Ameritrade’s branch network and through telephone conversations, as well as from independent Registered Investment Advisors on the TD Ameritrade Institutional platform.

How We Make Variable Annuity Recommendations

Variable annuity contracts can be fairly streamlined or extremely complex. They have specialized uses and functions within a client’s overall financial plan. We require a considerable amount of information from you before we provide a recommendation that we believe is suited for you. Questions about your current financial position, investing history, risk tolerance, investment objectives, goals, time horizons, and more provide us with insight. Your answers help us evaluate a variable annuity position as a possible holding for you. When our annuities representatives make a recommendation, they determine its suitability for a client at the time of the recommendation. Neither we nor our annuities representatives have discretionary authority in client accounts, or an ongoing duty to monitor client annuity holdings after they are sold.

Material Limitations

We evaluate variable annuities across product types, features and benefits, financial strength, and many other factors. We are stringent in our selection, only offering annuities from highly rated carriers. As a result, there may be annuity offerings at other firms that we do not make available. Additionally, our Agency annuities representatives are limited to making recommendations only for annuities and they do not make recommendations about the underlying investment options. If you have needs outside their area of scope and expertise, you may be referred to a different TD Ameritrade representative.

Variable Annuities

A deferred variable annuity available through the Agency allows you to direct the money placed into your annuity into a variety of underlying investment options that act similar to mutual funds. The options are based on your own long-term investment goals and risk tolerance. These investment options are subject to market risk. They may increase or decrease in value over time. Because of this inherent market risk, you could lose your principal.

Characteristics of Variable Annuities

The variable annuities we offer will be in the form of a contract between you and the insurance company. There are differences from one variable annuity contract to another as to features, benefits, fees and costs, and minimum and maximum premium amounts. Information about the particular features, benefits, fees, and costs for a specific variable annuity can be found in its prospectus. You will receive a copy of the prospectus for the variable annuity (or annuities) your Agency annuities representative recommends to you.

Below is General Information About the Annuities We Offer

Variable annuities can help you save for retirement.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Funds invested in variable annuities can grow tax-deferred.</li><li>• You pay no federal taxes on the income and investment gains on the funds you invest in your annuity until you make a withdrawal or receive income payments.</li><li>• When you withdraw your funds, you will pay tax on the gains at ordinary federal income tax rates rather than lower capital gains rates.</li><li>• When you start taking income payments, you can select payment options that will guarantee you payments for as long as you live. Some variable annuities offer additional features and guarantees, available as options or riders.</li></ul>
Variable annuities let you select your investment options.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Your premium contributions (minus any fees and charges deducted from premiums) are invested in the investment options – typically similar to mutual funds – you select.</li><li>• The value of your investment (usually referred to as your cash value) will fluctuate as the values of the underlying investment options increase or decrease.</li></ul>
Variable annuities are not short-term savings vehicles.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Withdrawing funds or surrendering a variable annuity in the short term after purchase may trigger surrender fees and charges, but the variable annuities offered through our Agency do not have surrender fees and charges.</li><li>• You can lose money in variable annuities, including potential loss of your initial investment, due to poor performance of the investment options you select and/or the cumulative impact of fees and charges on your cash value.</li></ul>

How Fees and Costs Impact Variable Annuities

Fee Deductions from Premium Payments	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• The insurance company may deduct a fee from your premium payment, usually to cover a state insurance premium tax.</li></ul>
Surrender and Withdrawal Charges	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Most variable annuities impose a surrender charge if you surrender your annuity or make a withdrawal of your cash value during the surrender charge period. The surrender charge and the surrender period are described in the annuity prospectus. As noted above, the variable annuities offered through our Agency do not have surrender fees and charges.</li><li>• Tax penalties can also apply to surrenders or withdrawals from annuities that are made before age 59 ½.</li></ul>
Ongoing Fees and Expenses	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Variable annuity insurance companies deduct fees and expenses from your policy cash value to cover ongoing fees and expenses such as mortality and expense (M&amp;E) risk fees, administration fees, transaction fees, and fees associated with certain optional riders.</li><li>• The M&amp;E risk fees are calculated as a percentage of your account value and are described as an annualized rate charged against assets. Some fees, such as administration or transaction fees, are fixed amount fees charged annually or when specific transactions occur and are deducted from your cash value.</li><li>• If you add riders to your variable annuity, the fees for those riders will be deducted from your cash value.</li><li>• You will also pay ongoing fees and expenses for the underlying investment options for the variable annuity in which you invest. These fees and expenses are separate from the fees charged by the insurance company and will be reflected in the performance of the underlying investment options. These ongoing fees and expenses include the fund's management fees, servicing fees, and 12b-1 fees, and are typically charged at an annualized rate against fund assets.</li></ul>

Costs and Fees Will Vary

The commissions, surrender charges, and ongoing fees and expenses associated with variable annuities vary by insurance company and the type of variable annuity. More information regarding the commissions, surrender charges, and ongoing fees and expenses for variable products is available in the variable annuity's prospectus. You can access prospectuses for the variable annuities we offer at tdameritrade.com/regbi.

Before deciding to purchase a variable annuity, you should consider your need for tax deferral. You also should consider your need for any optional benefits that offer future income and/or death benefit protection (especially in the case of mediocre or negative investment performance). If you are considering purchasing an annuity within a tax qualified account such as an IRA, you should note the variable annuity provides no additional tax benefit, so the purchase should be based on the other features and benefits of the annuity, such as the income or death benefits mentioned above.

Compensation to the Agency

The Agency receives compensation from the issuing insurance carrier. This could come in two forms: (i) up-front compensation payable upon sale of the annuity to you and calculated based on the amount of annuity premium you contributed, and (ii) ongoing payments calculated based on the prevailing value of your annuity. The up-front compensation to us on new annuity sales ranges from 0.50% to 0.60% of the amount you put into the annuity, and the ongoing payments range from 0.10% to 0.15% of the prevailing cash value. While you do not pay these amounts directly, the insurer factors this compensation into your ongoing annuity cost. The all-in annual costs for new annuities available through our Agency can range from approximately 0.35% to 3.80%.

Compensation to Sales Personnel

The Agency sales personnel receive compensation from the Agency (or TD Ameritrade, as the case may be) in connection with annuity sales. The compensation consists of a base salary and incentive compensation. The incentive compensation is based, in part, on sales volumes generated. Incentive compensation is not specific to a particular variable annuity so our Agency representatives can select an appropriate annuity for you without a product conflict.

Annuities are long-term investments designed for retirement purposes. Withdrawals of taxable amounts are subject to income tax and, if taken prior to age 59½, a 10% federal tax penalty may apply. Early withdrawals may be subject to withdrawal charges. Optional riders are available at an additional cost. All guarantees are based on the claims paying ability of the insurer. An annuity is a tax-deferred investment. Holding an annuity in an IRA or other qualified account offers no additional tax benefit. Therefore, an annuity should be used to fund an IRA or qualified plan for annuity features other than tax deferral. Product features and availability vary by state. Restrictions and limitations may apply.

Investors should carefully consider a variable annuity's risks, charges, limitations, and expenses, as well as the risks, charges, expenses, and investment objectives of the underlying investment options. This and other important information is provided in the product and underlying fund prospectuses. To obtain copies of the prospectuses, contact an annuity specialist at 800-347-7496 or email annuities@tdameritrade.com. Please read them carefully before investing.
